New Zealand gets yet another luxurious retreat to add to its impressive roster of achingly desirable accommodation.

Located on the beachfront at Nelson, Split Apple Retreat and Split Apple Hideaway are the latest additions to the luxury accommodation landscape of New Zealand, a little country big on sophisticated lodging offerings. With access to two secluded beaches, uninterrupted ocean panoramas to the front of you and breathtaking mountain vistas to the back, the houses themselves are the only thing that could come close to eclipsing the surroundings. The Retreat is a serene Japanese-inspired idyll with an emphasis on wellness (and serious good looks), boasting yoga, meditation and cooking classes; while the award-winning Hideaway beach house offers seclusion among the wilderness, with Italian furniture, a flat screen TV and modern art thrown in.
